Oh Mom, Why did you have to fall on July 26? This past month has been so hard on you, Dad and I as we watched you struggle daily to recover. We could not take the pain away. Now you are free of the pain. On August 21, 2014 when we arrived at Brookside, Dad's heart shattered into a million pieces. We arrived too late that day for you to hear Dad tell you one more time (as he did every day) how much he loved you. You already left and were in heaven greeting your youngest sister Leona. Rest in peace Mom - I miss you Linda

We were friends through Winnebago camping. What a nice lady. It was such a pleasure knowing and spending time with she and Bud. Our sympathy goes out to the family.

Irene and Bud were our neighbors for many years. They would stop over and sit and talk with us in our backyard about their trips, Bud's service, their children. Sometimes Linda would join us. We all were never at a loss for words, until now. Irene was like our mother, and Bud our father. She will be missed but will remain forever in our hearts and minds. Rest in peace Irene, and her and Bud will always be in our prayers. We love you.

The SIKORA family will always remember Irene as a great long-term neighbor. Our family homes were next to each other for over 50 years. For us kids the image of Bud and Irene sitting in their backyard on summer evenings and chatting over the cyclone fence is synonymous with our childhood. Irene was a wonderful friend to our Mom and we will all remember her fondly. We all send our deepest condolences to Bud, Linda, Clara and family.
